Kim was a 4-year starter that went to the TSSAA State Tournament all four years, finishing as a quarter finalist, 2 semi-finalist and a State Championship.

She is Siegel's 4th All-time leading goal scorer, 4th All-time points (goals & assists).

Kim went on to Lee University where she was team captain in 2011 and 2012. She was a NAIA Scholar All American and 2nd Team All American in 2012. She helped lead Lee University to 3 NAIA National Championships in 2009, 2010, 2011 and a Semifinals appearance in 2012.

Coach Eric Shelton says:

"From 2005-2008 Siegel was the dominant soccer team in District 7AAA and Region 4AAA and arguably the top team in the state. Each of those teams had one common denominator, Kim Conrad. Kim was a lynchpin to our success. Her uncanny ability to dictate a game, deliver a final pass, or finish a cross made her one of the most impactful players of any team I have coached. Her quiet unassuming demeanor masked the fierce competitor within. From her Freshman year in high school to her senior year in college, Kim's teams advanced to no less than the quarter finals of their respective post season tournaments. Kim earned 4 Championship rings in the process. This is not a coincidence."

“Brooke was a joy to coach. She was a quite leader that always led her team to the top. She led by example on and off the court. Brooke had many opportunities to play at the next level but choose to focus on her studies. She is one of a kind! Her teammates would agree that combined with her stellar athletic abilities, she also embodies an incredible leader, hard worker, go getter, never say die attitude. She may be one of the most decorated volleyball athletes, if not overall athlete, Siegel High has ever seen. She goes down as the best outside attacker Siegel High has to date. I have been coaching volleyball for 15 years, and club volleyball 10 years at the high school level, I’ve yet to come across an athlete of her stature to date.”

Kerry Hammonds II – Men’s Basketball

Coach Ben Dotson says:

“From 2006-2010 Siegel was one of the dominant men’s basketball teams in District 7AAA and Region 4AAA. Each of those teams had one common denominator, Kerry Hammonds II. Kerry was a lynchpin to our success. His uncanny ability to dictate a game, deliver a final pass, or finish a basket or make game winning free throws to win a Region Championship, made him one of the most impactful players of any team I have coached. His quiet demeanor masked the fierce competitor within, Kerry was a true leader in the classroom, in the hallways and most definitely on the basketball court.”

Coach Chris Harris - Basketball

- Siegel High Schools First Boys Basketball Coach

He went 113-55 during his five-year stint as head coach, guiding the Stars to three state tournament appearances. In 2005 and 2008 Siegel advanced to the semifinals, losing to eventual state champion Memphis Ridgeway both times. In 2006 Siegel lost to Whites Creek in the first round. Siegel won three Region 4-AAA tournament titles and two District 7-AAA tournament titles under Harris, who saw six players sign college scholarships and watched four players score at least 1,000 career points. As a player Harris, who was the head coach at Holloway for one season before coming to Siegel, won a state title at Knoxville Holston. He was a vital part of the MTSU men's team that upset Kentucky 50-44 in the 1982 NCAA tournament.

Principal Ken Nolan Says:

“Coach Harris is a winner on and off the court. In his time coaching at Siegel High School we went to the state tournament three times, the Elite Eight once and Final Four twice. That’s quite a feat for any coach. “

Montori also excelled on the basketball court lettering two years. Montori signed a football scholarship with the University of Tennessee and later played at University of Tennessee – Martin before being selected in the 5th round of the NFL Draft by the Indianapolis Colts.

Coach David Watson says:

“Montori Hughes was a fierce competitor on the football field. Montori was relentless, physical, fast, strong, aggressive – all the attributes you are looking for in a football player – Montori had them. Montori led the 2007 Siegel football team to the brink of a first ever playoff berth. Montori led the charge on a defense that helped the Stars win 4 in a row before falling on the last play of the game in week 10 at Lebanon to narrowly miss the playoffs. Montori blocked punts, sacked QBs, batted down passes, dominated the line of scrimmage and most importantly willed and motivated his teammates to play at a higher level. Montori made great strides while at Siegel and matured into one of the greatest and most passionate football players I have ever coached. Montori gave all he had for Siegel High School. “
