

INWOOD ACADEMY ATHLETICS

TRAILBLAZERS

Through team sports, scholar-athletes enhance their ability to work with others and develop leadership skills. Middle School and High School students have a variety of competitive athletic teams they can try out for in every season of the school year. Our athletics department builds partnerships across the city with programs like Beat the Streets NYC and Columbia University Athletics.

Inwood Academy coaches identify students who may be eligible for athletic scholarships and work with them to create college recruiting videos.
